THE Kentucky county attorneys are having a great time at Crab Orchard Springs in annual convention. Considerable business is being done and the sessions are brimful of interest. The session began with reports of officers, and was followed with an address on legal and illegal claims, by Judge W. G. Howell, which was discussed by Judge S. B. Kirby, of Louisville, and others. Yesterday's proceedings opened with an address by James T. Buford on the subject of needed legislation. W. P. Kimball, of Lexington, T. Scott Mays, of Springfield, and Samuel Kash, of Manchester, engaged in a discussion of the subject. Judge Dennis Dundon, of Paris, gave a pleasing talk on reciprocal relations, and duties of county judges and county attorneys. Jacob Corbett, of Ballard county, delivered an important address in favor of the return to the viva voce system of voting at elections, and advocating the adoption of the amendment to the Constitution, now pending, providing for a return to the ballot of our fathers. Judge R. C. Warren, of Stanford; James Garnett, of Columbia, and Col. Thomas P. Hill, of Stanford, made arguments favoring the reform. Wilkes H. Morgan, of Anderson county, delivered an address on the subject of compensation of county attorneys, which was discussed by Judge Kirby, of Louisville; J. C. Graham, of Leitchfield, and J. W. Moran, of London. A mock court presided over by Hon. Pres. Kimball, of Lexington, afforded much enjoyment at the evening session. The speeches of Judge Warren and Col. Hill were loudly applauded, many of the county attorneys never having had the pleasure of hearing either of the gentlemen before. Hon. Harvey Helm, who is a member of the entertainment committee, is working over time in order to make the visitors have a good time and he is succeeding admirably. Mine Host Willis has turned-over the keys to the attorneys and Crab Orchard is theirs while they stay there. The very successful meeting came to a close at noon yesterday, after the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. T. Davis, Pineville, president; Dennis Dundon, Paris, vice-president; W. J. Price, Danville, secretary; J. C. Graham, Leitchfield, treasurer. The association extended a vote of thanks to Col. T. P.
